The School of Global Studies provides students with several interrelated disciplines in which they can pursue B.A./B.S. degrees or minors. These programs are situated in two primary domains one focused on language and culture and one focused on international studies. The Modern Languages and Cultures department offers programs in Modern Language Business, French, Latin American Studies, and Spanish, with minors available in Asian Studies, French, German, and Spanish. The International Studies program offers a bachelor’s degree and a minor in International Studies.

The Program in International Studies offers a unique, interdisciplinary approach to studying global issues. Students take a core of common courses in a Global Theme during the freshman and sophomore years, and then select an issue emphasis and a regional emphasis which shape the courses taken during the junior and senior years. The regional emphasis is supplemented by language study and an international experience of at least 10 weeks’ duration. Such international experience can take the form of studying abroad, completing an internship abroad, or participating in service learning or other volunteer experience abroad.

Program staff and faculty emphasize experiential learning, undergraduate research opportunities, and excellence in teaching for all students in the program.

Students who take modern language literature and culture courses to complete a MLC major or minor will:

- Gain a deeper understanding of a variety of cultures, including their own;
- Become highly competitive in the international and domestic workforce;
- Increase their critical thinking and communication skills;
- Understand and make connections within the interdependent world;
- And become engaged world citizens.

As a leading center for the study of languages and cultures in Idaho, the Department of Modern Languages and Cultures (MLC) helps students gain a deeper understanding of a variety of cultures, including their own and become engaged world citizens. MLC faculty members, who are from the U.S., Mexico, France, Japan, China, Germany, and Spain including the Basque and Cataluña regions, prepare their students for professions in which proficiency in a second or third language is useful or required, including business, government, healthcare, law, media and education. This is reflected in the growing number of double/triple majors and academic minors who choose to combine the formal study of a language with another field related to the student’s other career or professional interests enabling them to become highly competitive in the international and domestic workforce.

In addition to the MLC course work, language majors are required to fulfill an international experience (eight week minimum) by completing a MLC approved study abroad program or international internship or faculty-led experience or a combination of all. This experience should take place after the student has finished language study through the intermediate (200) level. The study abroad program, internship or faculty-led experience must receive prior approval from the student’s MLC advisor and/or MLC Validation Committee appointed by the chair. Shorter international experiences exceptions can be considered by MLC Validation Committee in case of extraordinary financial or family circumstances.

If a student has already studied a language in high school, he or she may be eligible to receive vertically-related course credits simply by completing a more advanced course at UI.

International Studies

Majors
- International Studies (B.A.)

Minors
- International Studies Minor

Modern Languages and Cultures

Majors
- French (B.A.)
- Latin-American Studies (B.A.) - Offered through the Latin American Studies program
- Modern Language Business (B.A.)
- Spanish (B.A.)

Minors
- Asian Studies Minor
- French Minor
- German Minor
- Spanish Minor