UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO CENTERS

Beginning with our beautiful residential campus in Moscow, the university's reach extends throughout Idaho, serving over 11,000 students with educational centers in Boise, Coeur d'Alene and Idaho Falls; nine Research and Extension centers; and Extension offices in 42 counties. One of the nation's land-grant research universities, U of I is a noted national leader in student-centered learning and interdisciplinary research that promotes public service. Our work serves businesses and communities, advancing the pursuit of diversity, citizenship, and global outreach.

Strategic Focus

As the state's only land-grant institution, the University of Idaho is responsible for engaging citizens, businesses, and institutions throughout the state.

The University of Idaho Boise (http://www.uidaho.edu/boise/) provides access to all University of Idaho resources to southwest Idaho. UI Boise is focused on community impact, regional economic development, and supporting university growth, as well as having an engaged university campus with a climate of inclusion for employees throughout its regions of responsibility.

Strategically located in Boise, the economic and governmental center of Idaho and home of more than 55 percent of the state's population and business entities, UI Boise supports teaching, learning, research and outreach. We distinguish ourselves through:

- Quality programs that accommodate working professionals and full-time students with a focus on professional and workforce development.
- Outreach to southwest Idaho's communities to foster their sustainability, growth and educational access.
- Proactive research for domestic and global solution.
- Collaborative and interdisciplinary work with the public and private sectors, including other institutions of higher education.
- Enduring relationships with alumni and friends to carry forward the proud history and traditions of the University of Idaho.

Location

The University of Idaho established a presence in Boise with the Ada County Extension program in 1910. Today, the primary home of the University of Idaho Boise is at the intersection of Front Street and Broadway Avenue in the Idaho Water Center building, with other locations throughout the downtown, such as the College of Law at the Idaho Law and Learning Center on Jefferson Street, the Integrated Design Lab on Front Street, and the Ada County Extension offices located on Glenwood Street.

UI Boise also has leadership and administrative responsibility for University of Idaho activity in south central Idaho, including the Magic Valley and Wood River Valley.

Academic Programs in the Boise Area

Consistent with the role and mission assigned by the State Board of Regents and the University of Idaho's land-grant designation, the University offers select master's, specialist's and doctorate degree programs in Boise. Research

U of I Coeur d'Alene focuses on academic and industry research throughout northern Idaho, eastern Washington and western Montana region.

U of I's Center for Intelligent Industrial Robotics in the Hedlund Building on the NIC campus supports research and development by undergraduate, graduate, postdoctoral and faculty researchers in projects with wide-ranging implications to agriculture, industry, education and the computer science field at large.

The U of I Research Park in Post Falls houses private companies and government organizations focused on research, including SunTropics and the U.S. Geological Survey. The building, built on land donated by the Jacklin Land Development Co., offers wet and dry lab space and administrative offices for tenants, as well as community meeting rooms available to rent.

Community Engagement

Engagement with local citizens, businesses, agencies and individuals is a primary goal for U of I Coeur d'Alene. The center makes university resources available to the community through facility rentals, business and professional development, community science initiatives and continued education.

The Idaho Water Resources Research Institute is headquartered at the Harbor Center in Coeur d'Alene, with U of I Coeur d'Alene staff facilitating water research and development throughout the region and the state. In North Idaho, IWRRI coordinates the Bay Watchers lake citizen science program and The Confluence Project water research program for local high school students. IWRRI also partners with regional water resources organizations in Our Gem to encourage research and engage the community in the health of Lake Coeur d'Alene, and with the Panhandle Stormwater and Erosion Education Program (SSEP) to certify local industry professionals in stormwater management and erosion control.

The university's Northern Extension District Office is headquartered in Coeur d'Alene, providing programs and services to the 10 northern counties in Idaho. Extension's non-credit community programs include 4H, Master Gardeners, Master Forest Stewards and Eat Smart Idaho, among others.

U of I Coeur d'Alene is also host or home to educator resources from the College of Education, Health and Human Services, including the Region 1 Idaho Regional Mathematics Center, TRIO programs, North Idaho Principal Cohort, The Idaho Building Capacity Project, and Indigenous Knowledge for Effective Education.

Research
The center is strategically located next to the Idaho National Laboratory (INL) and the Center for Advanced Energy Studies (CAES). The University of Idaho is a founding collaborator at CAES. This location is ideal for research collaboration opportunities. The Idaho Falls Center focuses on delivering advanced education and research programs addressing state and national energy and security needs in partnership with the INL, industry, and university partners.

Idaho National Laboratory
In operation since 1949, the INL is a science-based, applied engineering national laboratory dedicated to supporting the U.S. Department of Energy’s missions in nuclear and energy research, science, and national defense. The laboratory works with national and international governments, universities, and industry partners to discover new science and develop technologies that underpin the nation’s nuclear and renewable energy, national security, and environmental missions.

Center for Advanced Energy Studies
CAES is focused on creating a unique and collaborative environment for our energy future, including cross-organizational and peer-to-peer technical collaboration. It addresses science, engineering and technology development critical to U.S. and global energy needs. CAES’ research focuses on energy affordability, environmental safety, and technology research in nuclear, hydrogen, fossil fuels (coal, oil and gas), plus the full spectrum of renewable energy sources. CAES’ research agenda fosters collaborations and interdisciplinary studies and makes its research and development facilities, and those of INL, available to a network of universities.

Community and Statewide Services
The College of Agriculture District IV Research and Extension Office at the Idaho Falls Center provides extension programming and agriculture related activities.
